MEET OUR GUESTS

In tonight's match against the Newcastle BHP Breakers, and in the three match series against Sweden, no player's position is secure in this highly competitive Socceroo squad.

National Coach Eddie Thomson has made it quite clear that there is no such thing as a guaranteed squad berth.

In a topsy-turvy National League competition this season with many 'stars' failing to deliver and many younger players developing rapidly, the grab for positions will be intense. Those present tonight should benefit from this, with prospective Socceroos pulling out all stops to impress coach Eddie Thomson.

In announcing his 18 player squad, Thomson paid tribute to his regular defence and midfield, and put the onus on the strikers to deliver the goods. A reflection perhaps on the low-scoring NSL season.

Central strikers Steve Maxwell (Adelaide City), Paul Trimboli (South Melbourne) and Warren Spink (Preston) will each be competing for a place in the Coca-Cola Socceroos, following their selection for the three matches against Sweden.

"There isn't any doubt about what I would do if Graham Arnold was back from Belgium and Frank Farina from Italy," Thomson said. "However they aren't available, and that leaves the squad's strikers - and those contending for other positions that are to be settled - to prove what they can do.

"Striking is the toughest job on the field, and strikers the world over have good spells and bad. Right now is the time for the strikers to really show their wares."

Thomson is certain to give leading fringe candidates the chance to succeed in tonight's major promotion at Mitre 10 Stadium.

Key players for the Socceroos include the possible first choice defence of goalkeeper Robert Zabica (Adelaide City), Ned Zelic (Sydney Olympic), Ian Gray (Marconi Fairfield), Andrew Bernal (Sydney Olympic), Alex Tobin (Adelaide City), and Tony Vidmar (Adelaide City). The Breakers have scored in away matches against the two Clubs who make up the bulk of this defence, namely Adelaide City and Sydney Olympic.

Skipper Paul Wade and Mike Petersen, both from South Melbourne are the likely midfield pairing, although against the Breakers in both rounds of the NSL, the South Melbourne midfield were found not to be invincible. Branko Milosevic (Melbourne Croatia) is a strong contender for a place in the Socceroo midfield combination.

There are other players that have caught Thomsons eye. He continues to rate Ernie Tapai (Adelaide City) highly, and has a word of fatherly advice for the returning Tom McCulloch (Marconi Fairfield).

"I had Tommy as a youngster, and the pleasing thing is that he has become much more consistent this year," he said. "He is not a stop gap choice, and it is up to him to prove that he can again kick along in international company."

Wide left players Jason van Blerk (APIA Leichhardt) and Alistair Edwards (Sydney Olympic) are both under consideration, after broadening their experience in Belgium and Malaysia respectively.

Whilst the Coca-Cola Socceros are looking ahead to their future World Cup commitments, Sweden have a more immediate target. As hosts of the European Championships in June, their first aim is to use the Australian three match tournament to build up to a high rating in that magnificent series.

"They will be keyed up and playing out of their skins, with places in their European Nations Championship team up for grabs." Thomson said.

With the Socceros also 'keyed up and playing out of their skins' for a place in the Australian squad, the Newcastle Breakers face a mammoth task tonight.

Although the home crowd tonight will no doubt fully support the fledgling Breakers team, Socceroo Coach Thomson, his experienced assistant Les Scheinflug and players and officials will have the Newcastle sporting public well behind them as they endeavour to scale the heights in the unbelievably competitive world football game.

HAVE MONEY, WILL SPEND

If only we could secure so generous a supporter as Sydney Olympic. Some $10,000 short of obtaining the services of one Ned Zelic, Sir Arther George, one time president of the Australian Soccer Federation, opened his cheque book to bridge the gap.

A similar some would have gone along way to purchasing a striker for the Breakers.

Anyone out there with a few thousand to spare?

You can judge for yourself if the money was well spent by Olympic, Ned should be wearing the Green and Gold tonight.

ON THE SUBJECT OF MONEY

Further to the story above Sydney Olympic have generated funds for their team for many years by conducting a Miss Sydney Olympic Quest. This year they raised in excess of $80,000 for the club.

The girls were rewarded for their efforts, every girl that raised over $15,000 received the wonderful prize of a trip to Greece.

Question, can it be done in Newcastle?

Answer, Yes.

Next question, is there someone prepared to assist?

Do I hear a reply?

Newcastle has many talented and pretty girls I'm sure together this could be a successful venture.

Give some thought to the idea, you can contact Derek Cunningham, Eddie Boards, a direction or any official in the first instance. We will then meet to put a plan into action.

NORTHERN N.S.W. SOCCER FEDERATION
JUNIOR SUPER LEAGUE.

The formation of a Junior Super League, a competition designed for talented and ambitious players, had been talked about a number of years prior to its inception in 1987.

A planning committee which comprised of Newcastle ASA, Macquarie ASA, Hunter District JSA and three directors of the NNSW Soccer Federation agreed upon a set of rules for a junior super league—in 1986, with the competition to commence the following year.

The purpose of the new competition was to provide an avenue for the development of talented and ambitious young soccer players in the Hunter Valley by providing,

- * a higher competitive competition
- * better grounds and facilities
- * the best referees
- * minimum Level 11 coaching

Eight clubs submitted teams in the inaugural year which culminated in a most successful Grand Final night under lights at Adamstown Oval. A crowd in excess of 2000 watched the cream of Newcastle soccer play for the honour of being the first Super League Grand Final winners.

1989 saw the inclusion of teams from Taree and Port Macquarie, Peter Gunning, Dean McWhirter and Gary Philips were North Coast juniors, it was a natural progression to expand into the northern, giving the soccer hopefuls from the north the opportunity to play against stronger competition.

After four seasons and the chance to evaluate the progress that has been made some minor changes were needed.

With Newcastle Australs playing in N.S.W. State League in 1988/91 many young players had ambitions to play for that club. As Austral became the BREAKERS, in the National League, the problem would have become more critical, so steps were taken to control the gravitation to one club, a situation that would have weakened the Super League base.

In the 1992 season "zoning" will be introduced at under 13 years level, a natural progression in the following four years until all age groups comply. The co-operation of the district associations was necessary before the move could be implemented, their foresight in agreeing to the changes has to be complimented.

Basically players will be required to play in the district they live, this will encourage clubs to develop their own players knowing they will not be "poached" as they begin to show promise.

In the case of the Macquarie Association and the Hunter District Association they will only select boys from their geographic area for their representative teams, they will also be active in monitoring of the each J.S.L. clubs within their boundaries, should any club get into difficulties they can take appropriate action to ensure that the game is put first, even to the extent of requesting that another club should replace the one in difficulty.

The Northern New South Wales Soccer Federation is keen to see the idea of Junior Super League expand further afield, taking the world game to the country areas.

While it is the off season for Junior Super League the two teams you will see playing this evening, Austral vs Weston Bears, is a sample of what you can see every weekend during the winter months.
